Terms and Conditions

For your information the following terms and conditions are stated for Cambridgepsychology.com volunteers.

Data Protection Statement:

Information about you is collected and used by Cambridgepsychology.com for the purpose of providing you with relevant information and advice about volunteering opportunities. All such information is confidential and will not be disclosed to anyone else, e.g. opportunity providers, without your express consent. Records are securely held and only available to yourself and Cambridgepsychology.com staff, including the webmaster (Keith Gravell, Cambridge Web Projects).

Other

All information placed on this site has been provided solely for the benefit of people an interest in cognitive testing.

Commercial use or publication of some or all items displayed on this website, including reproduction, storage, modification and distribution, without gaining prior written authorisation from Cambridgepsychology.com, is strictly prohibited.

In accordance with its research objectives, Cambridgepsychology.com believes in and supports the free dissemination of information as far as possible. However, proper credit and citations to Cambridgepsychology.com and the scientists who carry out the research should be included wherever the information appears.

Use of the Cambridgepsychology.com's logo, graphics or photographs without prior consent is strictly prohibited.

By volunteering on the website, you are agreeing for Cambridgepsychology.com to hold your personal details on a secured database, and may be contacted with regards to future research studies. Until such time that you notify Cambridgepsychology.com in writing, your details will remain on the database.

Disclaimer

Cambridgepsychology.com strives to ensure that all information presented on this website is as timely, unbiased and helpful as possible, and accurate at the time of publication.

However in no way should the information contained on the site be construed as medical guidance or professional advice, or be used in lieu of such. Use of the information provided on this site is voluntary and Cambridgepsychology.com cannot be held responsible for any errors or omissions that may occur in the information provided, or for any actions resulting from the use of such information.

Cambridgepsychology.com will not warrant that the functions contained in the material of this site will operate uninterrupted or without errors, that defects will be corrected, or that this site and the server that hosts it are free of viruses or bugs or represent the full functionality, accuracy and reliability of the materials.

Any communication made through this site, including questions, comments, suggestions or other data, is and will be treated as, non-confidential and non-proprietary information.

Your use of this site constitutes full acceptance of these terms and conditions. If you choose not to accept terms and conditions in full, your use of this site should be terminated immediately. These terms are construed in accordance with, and governed by the laws of England. By accessing the Cambridgepsychology.com website you agree to accept the exclusive jurisdiction of the English Courts in relation to any dispute that may arise in connection with these terms or your use of this website.

If you have any queries, please email Paula Smith (pls28@medschl.cam.ac.uk).